Morgenthaler Ventures Appoints Juan-Pablo Mas as Senior Associate

MENLO PARK, Calif., July 18, 2011 – Morgenthaler Ventures, a leading venture capital firm, today announced the appointment of Juan-Pablo Mas as senior associate on the Life Science Team. Mas will focus on investments in the life science and medical device sectors.

"Morgenthaler Ventures is thrilled to have Juan-Pablo join the Life Science Team," said Hank Plain, partner, Morgenthaler Ventures. "His experience in developing medical device therapies for cardiovascular disease, structural heart repair, and the neurovasculature will be integral to the firm's growing investment activity in medical devices."

Mas is currently a board observer at Innovative Pulmonary Solutions, Miramar Labs, The Foundry, and Cabochon Labs. Prior to joining Morgenthaler Ventures, he worked at Medtronic, Eli Lilly & Co. (in global brand strategy), and at Stanford Hospital (conducting research in the Neurology Department). Mas received an MBA from Stanford Graduate School of Business, an MS in Electrical Engineering from Stanford University, and a BS in Electrical Engineering from The University of Massachusetts, Amherst.
